- (3) Subject to subsection (4), the copyright in a literary or musical work shall be infringed by a person who permits a place of public entertainment to be used for a performance in public of the work, where the performance constitutes an infringement of the copyright in the work.
- (4) Subsection (3) shall not apply in a case where the person permitting the place of public entertainment to be so used was not aware and had no reasonable grounds for suspecting that the performance would constitute an infringement of the copyright.

30. Action by owner of copyright for infringement

- (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, infringements of copyright shall be actionable at the suit of the owner of the copyright, and in any action arising from such an infringement all such relief by way of damages, interdict, delivery of infringing copies or plates used or intended to be used for infringing copies or otherwise shall be available to the plaintiff as is available to the plaintiff in any corresponding proceedings in respect of infringements of other proprietary rights.
- (2) Damages contemplated in subsection (1) may, at the option of the plaintiff, be calculated on the basis of the amount of a reasonable royalty which would have been payable under the circumstances by a licensee or sublicensee in respect of the copyright concerned.
- (3) In the determination of the amount of damages referred to in subsection (2) the court shall, in addition to all other material considerations, take into account -
- (a) the extent and nature of the infringement of copyright; and

- (4) If a plaintiff intends to exercise the option contemplated in subsection (2), he or she shall give notice in writing to any exclusive licensee or sub-licensee of the copyright in question of his or her intention.
- (5) Where in an action for infringement of copyright, it is proved or admitted that an infringement was committed but that at the time of the infringement the defendant was not aware and had no reasonable grounds for suspecting that copyright subsisted in the work to which the action relates, the plaintiff shall not be entitled under this section to any damages against the defendant in respect of the infringement.
- (6) Where in an action for infringement of copyright, such infringement is proved or admitted, and the court having regard, in addition to all other material considerations, to -
 - (a) the flagrancy of the infringement; and is satisfied that effective relief would not otherwise be available to the plaintiff, the court may, in assessing damages for the infringement, award such additional damages as the court thinks fit.

- (7) In an action for infringement of copyright in respect of the construction of a building, no interdict or other order shall, where the construction of the building has been begun, be granted or made so as to -
 - (a) prevent the building from being completed; or
 - (b) require the building, in so far as it has been constructed, to be demolished.

31. Rights of action and remedies of exclusive licensee and sub-licensee

- (1) An exclusive licensee and sub-licensee shall have the same rights of action and be entitled to the same remedies as if the licence were an assignment, and those rights and remedies shall be concurrent with the rights and remedies of the owner of the copyright under which the licence or sub-licence were granted.

- (2) In the case of a literary, musical or artistic work or a computer program alleged to be a work or program of joint authorship, subsection (1) shall apply in relation to each person alleged to be one of the authors of the work or program as if references in that subsection to the author were references to one of the authors.
- (3) Where in any criminal or civil proceedings brought by virtue of this Chapter with respect to a literary, musical or artistic work or a computer program which is anonymous or pseudonymous it is established -

- (4) Where in any criminal or civil proceedings brought by virtue of this Chapter with respect to a literary, musical or artistic work or a computer program it is proved or admitted that the author of that work or program is dead, that work or program shall be presumed to be an original work or program unless the contrary is proved.
- (5) Subsection (4) shall also apply where a literary, musical or artistic work or a computer program has been published and -
- (a) the publication was anonymous or under a name alleged by the plaintiff or the State to be a pseudonym; and

- (6) Where in any criminal or civil proceedings brought by virtue of this Chapter with respect to the alleged infringement of copyright in a cinematograph film it is proved that the name purporting to be the name of the author of that film appears thereon in the prescribed manner, the person whose name so appears shall be presumed to be the author of that film unless the contrary is proved.
- (7) Where in any criminal or civil proceedings brought by virtue of this Chapter with respect to the alleged infringement of copyright in a sound recording it is proved that records embodying that recording or part thereof have been issued to the public and that at the time of such issue there appeared on a label or any other printed matter affixed to such records or in or on anything in which they were contained, a statement claiming -
- (a) that a person named on the label or printed matter is the author of that recording; or
 - (b) that the recording was first published in a year and at a place specified on the label or printed matter,
- that label or printed matter shall be sufficient evidence of the facts so stated, except in so far as the contrary is proved.
- (8) A claim contemplated in paragraph (a) of subsection (7) may be made by means of the symbol 'C' in conjunction with the name of the person concerned, and a claim contemplated in paragraph (b) of that subsection may be made by means of the symbol 'P' in conjunction with the year and place in question.
- (9) Where in any civil proceedings brought by virtue of this Chapter with respect to the alleged infringement of the copyright in a cinematograph film it is proved that the person alleged to have committed an infringement has done an act which the owner of the copyright has the exclusive right to do or to authorise, it shall be presumed, unless the contrary is proved, that such person did that act without the required authority.
- (10) In any civil proceedings brought by virtue of this Chapter with respect to the alleged infringement of the copyright in a cinematograph film, sound recording or computer program, it shall be presumed, unless the contrary is proved, that a person trading in the selling, letting or distribution of copies of any works of such descriptions and who was found in possession of a copy of any of such works has sold or let or by way of trade offered or exposed for sale or hire such copy.
- (11) Where in any civil proceedings brought by virtue of this Chapter with respect to the alleged infringement of the copyright in a work it is proved that the person alleged to have done an act which allegedly infringes the relevant copyright did that act without the authority of the exclusive licensee, it shall be presumed, unless the contrary is proved, that the relevant act was done also without the authority of the owner of the copyright concerned.

- (6) An order of the Tribunal under subsection (5) may be made so as to be in force either indefinitely or for such period as the Tribunal may determine.
- (7) Where the Tribunal has made an order in respect of a licence scheme which has been referred to it, such scheme shall thereafter, notwithstanding anything contained therein, and in so far as it relates to the class of cases in respect of which the order was made, remain in operation subject to the terms of the order.

- (2) A person, who claims that in a case covered by a licence scheme the licensing body operating the scheme has refused or failed to grant him or her a licence in accordance with the provisions of the scheme, or to procure the grant to him or her of such a licence, may apply to the Tribunal for an order under this section.
- (3) An application for such an order may also be made by a person who claims that he or she requires a licence in a case not covered by a licence scheme, and either -

- (a) in the case of an application under subsection (2), determine to be applicable in accordance with the licence scheme; or
- (b) in the case of an application under subsection (3), determine to be reasonable in the circumstances.
